Much at stake in NC's primary election

March 15, 2016. That's the date Roanoke Electric Co-op urges you to cast your vote for the Connect NC bond referendum. If it passes, the referendum will have a significant economic impact on North Carolina's rural areas, with major investments in education, parks, safety, water and sewer infrastructure. Your vote matters! Read more.

Dear Congress: Restore LIHEAP funding

A grassroots effort urging Congress to restore funding for the Low-Income Energy Assistance Program could use your helping hand. By signing this letter to lawmakers, you may help vulnerable families in North Carolina get critical energy assistance when they need it most. Read more.

Mark Your Calendars!

Get ready for some 'Straight Talk'

The first in a series of six "Straight Talk" sessions is set for March 24 at Roanoke Electric Co-op's headquarters. For member-owners, this is a great opportunity to offer feedback and receive valuable updates on programs and services offered by your electric co-op. Read more.

Today's Tip

Don't let that little drip fool you...

Ever heard the sound of money going down the sink? Those annoying little drips you see taking a free fall from your faucet are literally draining your wallet, drop by drop by drop... Getting that fixed is one of the energy-saving tips offered in Roanoke Electric Co-op's new 'Ways to Save' series. See more.
