

THE CALL

A BIWEEKLY PUBLICATION OF ROANOKE ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE

VOL. 21- May 4, 2016

Roanoke Connect

Exploring the future of broadband

There is much at stake for education and economic development in this region, co-op and community leaders declared, as they pondered what broadband access could mean for the future of northeast North Carolina. See why this next phase in the co-op's ongoing Roanoke Connect project is so critically important to this community. Read more.

Q&A

Wanted: Your input on local broadband access

Is it cost-effective to extend broadband service to your home and/or business in this region? Roanoke Electric Co-op needs the community's help to answer this important question, as our work advances on a $4 million high-speed internet fiber optic project called Roanoke Connect. Your input is critical, as we explore the Internet of Things in our local community. Please take our survey!

Electrical Safety Month

Electric hazards: Don't become a statistic

The bad news: Electricity is the cause of 140,000 fires, 400 electrocutions, and 4,000 injuries in the United States each year, according to Electrical Safety Foundation International. The good news: You can do a lot to avoid these hazards and becoming one of these statistics. Read more

Talk Time!

May 5th: Straight Talk series continues

Gates County High School is the place to be for our next Straight Talk forum on May 5th, beginning at 6 p.m. For member-owners, the popular meeting is a great chance to offer feedback and receive valuable updates on Roanoke Electric Co-op's programs and services. Read more.
