

THE CALL

A BIWEEKLY PUBLICATION OF ROANOKE ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE

Scavenger hunt begins with launch of revamped website

Today, Roanoke Electric Co-op launches its revamped website, with new and improved features and usability. To mark the occasion, we are inviting you to take part in a "scavenger hunt" to introduce you to some of the valuable information and resources that can be found there. By doing so, you may also find yourself the winner of a cash prize. Want to test your luck? Let the hunt begin!

Want to track energy use? There's an app for that

Would you like an easy way to track your home's energy consumption? You can do that, as well as manage your co-op account, make bill payments and receive alerts -- all while on the go. Roanoke Electric Co-op's mobile app is just a tap, swipe and scroll away. Check it out.

REMINDER

Nov. 5th: Time to fall back

Did you know the long-time tradition of daylight savings time was started by Benjamin Franklin as a way to conserve energy? That extra hour of daylight we gained last spring will go away this Sunday, when daylight savings time officially comes to an end. At 2 a.m. on Nov. 5, clocks should be turned back one hour to 1 a.m.
